

The RueanKorat-Chalermwattana Project

The RueanKorat-Chalermwattana project is located on Ratchadamnoen Road, across from Thao Suranaree (Lady Mo) Monument in the heart of downtown Korat. This cultural lifestyle space once situated Chalermwattana Theatre, considering one of the oldest theatres in the city. The name 'Chalermwattana' was derived from our forefather's first name and his royally conferred title. Surrounded by lush garden and trees, the project provides an additional destination for locals and visitors who travel to pay respects to Thao Suranaree (across the street), shop for fine silk, taste Korat rice noodles (Phat Mi Korat), view the modern interpretation of Phimai Sanctuary, and witness Dan Kwian pottery. We also feature RueanKorat Chalermwattana house, creative cultural community-based product center, conference rooms, co-working space, and many more.

The RueanKorat Chalermwattana house is a replica of the 111-year-old 'Father Kong' traditional Korat-style house. The original house, located at Nakhon Ratchasima Rajabhat University, receives the 2018 Architectural Conservation Award from the Association of Siamese Architects (ASA). The RueanKorat Chalermwattana house was created to showcase the original house at the convenient location for visitors.

Creative Cultural Community-Based Product Center

We recognize the importance of community development at the grassroots level. At Rom-Bhodi shop, we conscientiously make available locally made products, including traditional handicrafts, fine silk, textiles, pottery, ornaments, food, and household items that reflect unique wisdom, way of life, and cultures of Korat. It is an ideal place to pick up uniquely and meticulously-made souvenirs for your loved ones.
